Five Sororities Must Give Up Chapter Space

University Considers Leasing Apartment for Women's Groups

Five sororities having chapter rooms located above the second floor in University buildings will soon be obliged to vacate their rooms because they are not eligible to secure occupancy permits required of social groups under the new fire code.

The sororities which will be affected are Alpha Delta Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Sigma Sigma, Pi Beta Phi, and Zeta Tau Alpha. Alpha Pi Epsilon, honorary home economics fraternity, will also be obliged to abandon its rooms.

Fire Escapes Necessary

The inspector from the fire department told sorority women that they would not be evicted if fire escapes were put up. The University, however, cannot afford to equip such old buildings with fire escapes. President Cloyd H. Marvin said at a meeting of sorority presidents last Thursday. He said that the University would accommodate sororities by allowing them to store their furniture in their old rooms until they can make new arrangements.

Because of the difficulty to be met in securing chapter rooms in the neighborhood, a questionnaire was sent out Saturday from the office of Mrs. Virginia G. Barrows, director of women's personnel guidance, to all sorority presidents asking how many of them would be willing to pay from $50 to $65 a month rent beginning Sept. 1, 1936.

Might Lease Apartment

According to Mrs. Barrows, the University would be willing to lease an apartment house and rent chapter rooms to social groups if they so desired. Chapter rooms could include bedrooms to be rented by women living away from home, thus defraying the monthly expense.

If sororities are agreeable, this might be the first step toward the ultimate building of a Panhellenic House, according to C. E. Merry, assistant comptroller.

Dean Kayser To Supervise Peace Meet

Gerald Boileau Speaks at Morning Convocation Session

Congressman Maury Maverick and William T. Stone last night announced that they would address the Peace Day Convention on Apr. 6, according to Charles F. Kiefer, chairman of the steering committee.

Maverick, representative from Texas, has announced that his subject will be, "Will Collective Action Maintain Peace?"

Stone, Washington secretary of the Foreign Policy Association, will address the late afternoon session on "What Is National Defense?"

Elmer Louis Kayser, dean of University students, has been delegated by Pres. Cloyd H. Marvin to act for the University administration in arrangements for the Peace day convocation on Apr. 6, according to the steering committee.

Congressman Gerald J. Boileau, of Wisconsin, will address a morning session on "What Is National Defense?" He will be questioned by a student panel.

The committee has sent invitations to Sen. William E. Borah, ranking minority member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, to Prof. Harold Laske of the London School of Economics, visiting lecturer at the New School for Social Research in New York; Sen. Lewis B. Schwellenbach, of Washington, former president of the University of Washington; Congressman Maury Maverick, of Texas; Major-Gen. Smedley Butler, U. S. Marine Corps, retired; and to William T. Stone, of the Foreign Policy Association.

Plans for broadcasting part of the day's proceedings are being considered by the committee. The program will include two meetings at 10:45 a. m., two meetings at 5:45 p. m., and an evening convocation.

Faculty Members Of P. B. K. Agree On Qualifications

At a meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa members of the faculty Thursday, it was agreed to include the semester's work immediately preceding candidacy for the bachelor's degree in the qualifications for membership in the newly-formed Columbian Society.

This society, which was intended to be a nucleus for a future chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, was to consist of students who had completed at least 100 hours with an average of 3.5 or better provided that at least 90 of these hours were taken at this University. Elections to the society were to be held in March and November.

The faculty men decided Thursday that the last semester's work should be included. They therefore deferred first election of members until June of this year.

Ten Freshmen Vie Tomorrow In Speech Meet

Ten freshmen will compete Wednesday night in the annual freshman speaking contest sponsored by Sigma Delta Phi, women's speech art fraternity. The contest will be held in Corcoran 10, at 8 p. m. Dr. Elmer Louis Kayser will be chairman and will introduce speakers. Contestants and subjects of their addresses are Howard Mace, "The New Deal and the Relief," Muriel Merelman, "George Washington: A National University," Thomas Larkin Jr., "Congress vs. the Supreme Court," Phoebe Beale, "States' Rights: Fact or Fiction," Lenell Goodman, "The Revolt of Adam's Rib," James Mott, "Disaster Stalks The Dove," Sylvia Bahar, "So Women Have Equal Rights," Bennett Willis, Jr., "Shall We Curb the Supreme Court?," James C. Thomas, "Enlist Against The Public Debt," and Flora Blumenthal, "The Juvenile Court of the District of Columbia."

Cue & Curtain Picks 'Is Life Worth Living?'

Lennox Robinson's Satire Chosen; Tryouts Held This Week

"Is Life Worth Living?" a three act comic satire by Lennox Robinson, was chosen last week for presentation May 1 and 2 as Cue and Curtain's third play of the year. Marvin Beers, director, announced Sunday.

Simultaneously, tryouts were called for tonight, tomorrow, and Thursday nights in Bldg. N at 8 o'clock.

A large number of players will be required. Beers said, for the solid characterization which ranges from old women and old maids to servant girls, and from the leading male citizens of the community down to the bootblacks.

The scene of "Is Life Worth Living?" is in the little town of Innish, a summer resort on the coast of Ireland. It is described as a "backward, easy-going place, where life comes more or less easy to the inhabitants."

The complications of the plot arise when the owner of the leading tavern imports a company of players to perform in the town's opera house. The plot concerns the events when the residents of Innish begin to take the plays seriously and begin to think that occurrences which have taken place on the stage might well happen to them.

A rooming house, where the company takes up residence, is the scene of all three acts.

Robinson, author of "Is Life Worth Living?" is an outstanding Irish writer, according to Beers, and numbers among his works "The Light Haired Boy" and "The Far Hills," in addition to the Cue and Curtain selection.

"Is Life Worth Living?" has been presented in England, Ireland, and the United States. It has not been shown in Washington in several years.

Beers announced Sunday that Cue and Curtain's card catalogue of players will be brought up to date, following tryouts this week, and that names and information contained in the catalogue will be used in casting next year's plays.

He expressed the intention of the club to build up, through the catalogue, a company of players within the University who would be available for work in Cue and Curtain productions.

The building on the northeast corner of Pennsylvania and G Sts., which will be vacated except for the Admissions Office, will be remodeled for the President's office.

Dr. Quigley Retires From Business After 45 Years

Opened Store One Year After Graduation in Pharmacy

Dr. R. Luden Quigley, the white-haired gentleman whose store University students have used for 45 years, bade farewell to his patronage last week when he retired from business.

Not only has Dr. Quigley been connected with the University by the location of his store, but in 1890 he received his degree from the National College of Pharmacy which later merged with G. W. U. to become the Pharmacy Department of the University.

In 1891, the year after his graduation, Dr. Quigley opened his store. As the University has grown, Dr. Quigley has watched it and cooperated in every way he could to prove himself a true friend of the University.

Manifesting his interest in stu-

G. W. Students Help Welcome College Flyers

100 Delegates From 40 Colleges Are Expected in Washington

As the only collegiate flying club in Washington, the G. W. Flying Club will lend its hand in welcoming delegates to the Second National Intercollegiate Flying Conference when more than 100 delegates from 40 colleges and universities are expected in Washington Mar. 30 to Apr. 1.

A committee of G. W. fraternity and sorority members are cooperating with Washington aviation leaders to present what promises to be one of the most colorful college affairs held in Washington during this school year.

Most of the delegates are active pilots and many are expected to arrive in their own planes to take part in the varied program of activities. Although the main purpose of the conference is a general discussion of flying problems, a social program will be followed the evening of Apr. 1 when a banquet and dance at the Shorham Hotel will conclude activities.

At the banquet Grover Loening, pioneer pilot and plane manufacturer, will present the Loening Trophy to the outstanding college flying club of the past year. Dancing will be accompanied by the Shorham Orchestra and the current floor show will also be featured.

All students who are at all interested in aviation are invited to attend the conference by the committee in charge of arrangements. Registration will be held in the Carlton Hotel at 9 a. m., Tuesday, Mar. 31. Further information regarding the convention may be obtained from Bill Cheatham, Capitol 55.

Attending the conference, sponsored by the National Aeronautic Association, will be such nationally famous aviation personalities as Jimmie Doolittle, Eugene Vidal, General Oscar Westover, and Al Williams.

Capt. James E. Webb, U. S. M. C. R., commanding officer of observation squadron three, and organizer of the G. W. flying group is chairman of the joint committee of arrangements.

Other members of the arrangements committee are Leighton Rogers, president, Aeronautical

Bursar Moves To 2101 G St.

April Tuition Payments May Be Made in Old Fine Arts Bldg.

Students will be able to pay the April installment on their tuition in the Bursar's new office in the Fine Arts School building, 2101 G St., according to Charles E. Merry, assistant comptroller in charge of buildings and ground.

The old Arts School building, which is now being remodeled, will house, in addition to the Bursar's office, the comptroller's office, the purchasing and disbursing offices, and the lost and found department.

The extension, which is being added to the west side of the building will house the outer office of the Bursar, where student payments are customarily made. This will be large enough to permit seven clerks to be on duty at a time.

The building on the northeast corner of Pennsylvania and G Sts., which will be vacated except for the Admissions Office, will be remodeled for the President's office.

Alpha Lambda Delta Pledges 5 Wednesday

Five women will be pledged to Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic honor society for freshmen women, tomorrow at 12:15 in Columbian House.

These girls, all of whom now have an index rating of 3.5 or more for work done during their freshman year, are Phoebe Jane Beale, Mary Welby Beverley, Audrey Chew, Marie McNeese, and Anna Katharine Molster.

W. & M. Defeats Geo. Washington Women Debaters

Ann Price and Nita Ligon, of William and Mary College, taking the affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That the New Deal de- serves the support of the elector- ate in 1936," won the debate against Jennie Garner and Reba Edelman of the University Women's Debate team.

The decision was rendered by taking a popular vote of the audience. The questionaire given out asked for the audience's opinion before and after the debate. The vote was 29 in favor of the affirmative, 11 undecided and 13 in the negative.

The results at the end of the debate showed that 10 believed more strongly in the affirmative of the resolution, two were undecided, six believed in the negative, and 10 believed more strongly in the negative of the resolution.

Fiesta Names Cast of 'Davy,' Musical Show

President Marvin Voices Approval of Fiesta Plans and Budget

With the official approval of all Fiesta plans voiced yesterday by Pres. Cloyd H. Marvin, the Productions Board last night, announced the cast for "Davy," the Fiesta musical comedy.

Feminine leading parts will be taken by Eleanor Boehs and Sue Slater. Male leading roles have been awarded to Joseph Klein and Leonard Lieberman. Other members of the cast announced by Lawrence Beckerman, director of the musical comedy, are Ben Candland, Lila Hansen, and Jerry Hess.

Only three minor parts remain open, and they, according to Beckerman, will be cast this week. The parts still open are: The Girl Who Sells Cigarettes, The Peanut Impresario, and The Stillman Garcon.

The cast is requested to be present at a short meeting at the Fiesta office, second floor of Building N, at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Boehs Plays Constance

Eleanor Boehs will take the part of The Girl Constance. Miss Boehs is well known in campus music and dramatic circles, having played the female lead in the Troubadour show of 1934, "Take It Easy." She is also a member of the Women's Glee Club.

The Boy-Davy will be played by Joseph Klein, who took the role of the young detective sergeant in last week's Cue and Curtain production, "Ten-Minute Alibi."

Sue Slater will be The Other

Bulletin Board To Be Set Up

Hour Glass Plans Means For Relaying Personal Messages

Hour Glass, honorary activities society for women, within the next two weeks, will install a bulletin board in the Student Club Room for personal use of all University students.

Arrangements have been made with C. E. Merry, assistant comptroller, to construct a board approximately six by four feet in size where notes may be left so that students may contact each other during the day.

To avoid confusion, letters of the alphabet will be painted on the board from "A" to "Z" so that notes may be posted in the section of the board corresponding to the first initial of the last name of the person to whom the note is addressed.

Virginia Pope, in charge of the board, says that area will be allotted each letter proportionately through a survey of students names.

With the closing of many of the sorority rooms now imminent, the Hour Glass bulletin board will probably be the only substitute for those formerly available to sorority women who will soon be without chapter rooms.

Biological Societies Visit Med. School Wednesday

1,500 Biologists From All Over the Country Expected To Attend Three-Day Meeting, According To Dr. Vincent Du Vigneaud

The George Washington School of Medicine will act as host to the national meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology which will take place from Mar. 25 through Mar. 28 in the District.

Approximately 1,500 biologists from all over the country are expected to attend this meeting. Dr. Vincent Du Vigneaud, secretary of the local committee in charge of arrangements, said, Scientific demonstrations and sessions are to be held through Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

There will be a smoker and entertainment at the Washington Hotel Thursday night, and the annual dinner of the federation at the Willard Hotel on Friday night.

Board Names Ruediger Provost of University

Executive Committee Composed of French, Dresse, and Whitelaw Will Fill Vacancy Left By Dean's New Appointment

Following action by the Board of Trustees, Pres. Cloyd H. Marvin last week announced the appointment of Dean William C. Ruediger of the School of Education as Provost of the University and the appointment of an executive committee for the School of Education.

The executive committee which will fill the vacancy left by Provost Ruediger's new appointment is composed of Dr. William C. French, professor of education; Dr. Mitchell Dresse, associate professor of educational psychology; and John B. Whitelaw, assistant professor of education.

Cherry Tree Subscriptions End April 8

Board Announces Contest Close After Meeting Sunday Night

The Cherry Tree subscription contest will end Apr. 8, according to announcement made after a special meeting of the Cherry Tree Board Sunday night.

All money collected and empty receipt books should be turned in at the Publications Office, 2016 H St., by that date, but returns should also be made weekly by organizations which are taking part in the contest.

Students who wish to subscribe to the Cherry Tree should contact members of organizations in the sales contest or the Publications Office by Apr. 8, as no extra copies can be ordered from the printer after that date.

Prints of the 10 entrants in the Cherry Tree beauty contest have been sent to the two judges, Neysa McKeen, of McCalla, and John LaGatta, of the Saturday Evening Post, and a large proportion of the photographic copy has been submitted to the engraver, Emmett Deady, of the Standard Engraving Company.

Tomorrow is the last day, copy may be turned in by organizations for the Cherry Tree, according to Helen Buntin, editor, who states that the year book will either be forced to print last year's list of names and copy from the 1935 Cherry Tree or to leave the page blank of any organization which does not submit its copy.

$104 Collected For Class Gift

Columbian College Dona- tions Lead in Senior Flagpole Fund

A total of $104 of the required $550 needed for the Senior class gift of a second flagpole has been collected, according to Paul L. Moats, president of the Senior Council.

Members of Columbian College lead in donations, their gifts amounting to $40. The members of the School of Engineering are second with their contribution of $20. Members of the Division of Library Science are third, having contributed $15.

The amount for the other schools having made contributions are: $10 from the School of Government, $10 from the School of Pharmacy, $7 from the School of Education, and $2 from the Division of Fine Arts. No reports have been turned in from either the School of Medicine or the Law School.

Moats has urged all contributions be made as soon as possible as a certain amount must be deposited before casting of the 65-foot pole may be started. A blank is printed on page 2 of The Hatchet, which with the contribution may be left at the Registrar's office.

Seeger Continues Series

Dr. Raymond J. Seeger, assistant professor of physics, will continue his series of talks on the "Meaning of the Cross" when he speaks in chapel Friday at 12:10 in Y-10 on "Choosing the Cross." He will discuss the reason why Jesus deliberately chose the cross.

Auditions Will Be Held Sunday For Student's Drama

Auditions for this year's final radio drama to be written by a member of the creative writing class and presented on the University Radio Forum, will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. in the studios of station WMAF. Any University student is eligible to try out.

The drama by Robert Swezey, scheduled for Apr. 24, will concern Louis Pasteur's life and will last 45 minutes. A special dispensation from the National Broadcasting Company makes it possible for this drama to last 15 minutes longer than those presented previously.

Women's Debate Team To Meet Trinity Today

The women's debate team will meet the Trinity College debaters at Trinity today at 4:30. Reba Edelman and Muriel Merelman will uphold the negative of the question, "Resolved: That the Legislature shall have the power to override decisions of the Supreme Court." The debate will be non-decision.

Masons Give $7,000 Check To University

Hensley Presents Money to Department of Foreign Service

Melville D. Hensley, chairman of the Educational Foundation of the National League of Masonic Clubs, presented Pres. Cloyd H. Marvin a check for $7,000 last Saturday for the maintenance of two chairs of Foreign Service in the University's School of Government.

Charles S. Baker, president of the General Alumni Association, presided over the meeting, first introduced Secretary of War Dern, who told of his recent visit to the Philippines and the inauguration of the new government there. He expressed full confidence in the ability of the students to attain their goal of complete independence in the 10-year transition period.

Secretary Dern mentioned that not often has a new nation been launched with such good will, as most have been born in bloodshed. He said that the U. S. has done much work of which it should be proud in the Islands.

Three former presidents of the National League of Masonic Clubs were present at the luncheon, including Mr. Hensley, Lynn H. Troutmann, and Major Cheney Berthoff.

Baker introduced those at the head table, including in addition to Secretary and Mrs. Dern and President and Mrs. Marvin, who were the guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. William Thornwell Davis, Harry C. Davis and Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., of the Board of Trustees of the University; the former Governor of Virginia and Mrs. John Garland Pollard; Dr. J. C. Bradley, president of The George Washington University Medical Society; Mr. E. Hilton Jackson, president of The George Washington Law Association; the Dean of the Law School and Mrs. William C. Van Vleet; Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, former president of the Board of Commissioners of the District and an Alumni Trustee of the University; Dr. A. F. W. Schmidt, Director of the Division of Library Science; Prof. George N. Henning and Miss Henning; and Prof. Norman Bruce Ames, assistant to the President of the University.

Members of the Division of Library Science are second with their contribution of $20. Members of the Division of Fine Arts. No reports have been turned in from either the School of Medicine or the Law School.

Moats has urged all contributions be made as soon as possible as a certain amount must be deposited before casting of the 65-foot pole may be started. A blank is printed on page 2 of The Hatchet, which with the contribution may be left at the Registrar's office.

Exitus Acta Probat

Borrowing Without Permission Habit Should Be Barred by Officials

THINGS have a way of disappearing here at the University and it is about time something is done about it. Articles ranging from Hatchet typewriters to sorority tea kettles have been found missing. Sometimes the "borrowed" articles are returned but most of the time they are not, and unless their owners learn who has the property and go after it themselves, it never gets back to the rightful owners.

Property of others may be used if permission is obtained before taking the property, but we learn that in many cases the "borrowers" just help themselves.

This puts the owners to disadvantage in that they are not only wrongfully deprived of the use of their property but not knowing who took it, they can do nothing about having it returned to them.

The latest report of this highway borrowing is reported by the legal sororities. These groups have their own room in Stockton Hall where they serve tea every evening at 6 o'clock. The dishes, tea kettle, silverware, and other utensils are the private property of the sororities' members. It has been necessary to replenish the supply several times due to the fact that things disappear. Last week their new tea kettle was taken but due to the fact some one saw a young woman take it into the Women's Physical Education Building it was recovered by the legal sorority girls. The tea kettle was taken without permission and is the only "borrowed" article that has been recovered.

It should not be necessary to keep everything under lock and key at the University. Men and women in college should know not to take other people's property, but it seems this is not the case here.

Although it is difficult to find a solution, this situation should be remedied and The Hatchet recommends that some action be taken in this direction by University Officials.

Ruediger's Selection as Provost To Be Commended

WITH the announcement of the appointment of Dr. William Carl Ruediger as Provost of the University, President Marvin is to be commended on his wise choice in filling this honored position.

Provost Ruediger has served the University as Dean of the School of Education for many years, during which time some 1,200 persons have taken his classes, and more than 700 of his former students are public school teachers in the District of Columbia.

His experience as dean together with his pleasing personality make Provost Ruediger well suited to act as the official head of the University, and The Hatchet extends best wishes to Provost Ruediger in his new capacity and believes the University is fortunate in having such a distinguished gentleman as its Provost.

Masonic Clubs Present $7,000 For Foreign Service

EACH year since the re-establishment of the School of Government in 1928, a substantial contribution has been presented to the University by the National League of Masonic Clubs toward the support of two chairs in Foreign Service.

This year's gift from the League amounted to $7,000 and was presented to President Marvin last Saturday evening by Mr. Melville D. Hensey, chairman of the Educational Foundation of the National League of Masonic Clubs.

The League sponsors an annual nation-wide cherry blossom sale to raise the funds for the gift.

The Hatchet, as official spokesman of the administration and student body, takes this opportunity to express sincere gratitude to this distinguished group for its generous and worthy gift.

Because of this substantial assistance, the Foreign Service Department in the University's School of Government has become one of the finest in the country.

Today the George Washington University is exceeded by only one University, Harvard, in the number of men in the Foreign Service of the United States who have attended its classes.

Having graduates performing important public services and filling responsible positions bring more honor to an institution of learning than anything else and by supporting two chairs in the Foreign Service the League is helping the University to train men for public service.

"Politicians' West Point" Not Conducive to Good Government; Also Educationally Unsound.

—By Jimmie Haley—

H. R. 11225, A BILL.—To establish the National Academy of Public Affairs, providing for a Board of Supervisors therefor, and making an appropriation for its establishment and maintenance.

So reads the title to a Bill introduced in the House of Representatives recently by Representative Disney of Oklahoma. The Bill was referred to the Committee on Education; hearings on the Bill will be held soon, probably within the next several weeks.

More specifically this Bill provides for:

1. Establishment of the Academy in the District of Columbia, with an appropriation of $5,000,000.00 for its organization and initial maintenance including purchase of site.

2. Control of the Academy to be vested in a Board of Supervisors composed of the Secretaries of State, Treasury, Interior, Commerce, Agriculture, and Labor.

3. Each Congressman to appoint one student from his district each year, each Senator to appoint two from his State, and the President to appoint fifty at large.

4. Duly appointed students to attend the Academy without cost; age limits for eligibility are 17 years minimum, 25 years maximum; the institution to be coeducational.

5. Graduates to have civil service status with all retirement rights.

"The purpose and function of said Academy shall be the training and education of men and women for public service."

Enactment of this Bill into law would, in my opinion, be detrimental to the causes of both good government and education.

Operation of such a "politicians' West Point" would be detrimental to the cause of good government primarily because it would inject politics into governmental activity even further than under the present system.

Under the Academy proposition persons would get into the Civil Service by way of political appointment. That the appointees would favor their patrons, in the majority of cases, would only be natural.

Furthermore, since those who "run the government" must deal and bargain with average, conventionally-trained people, it would seem that standard training would make for better administration rather than such specialized training.

Of course the better Universities conducting Schools of Government would be hurt by the passage of this Bill. But the real evil of the system from an educational standpoint would be the hardship worked on the students of the Academy themselves.

Presumably "politicians' West Point" would prepare students only for government service; its graduates would be forced to take whatever government jobs might be available; they would scarcely be prepared to make their way in the business world in competition with graduates of standard colleges and universities.

In the regular colleges and universities students acquire a broad, firm foundation on which to build their careers whether they be in government service or in the broader and more remunerative field that lies outside that service. In the "Academy" their training would be limited to preparation for government service.

VIEWS AND INTERVIEWS

Much Interest Has Been Manifested on Campus in the Student Club Since Its Existence Was Endangered.

—By Bill Cheatham—

AFTER operating for several months, the Student Club nearly received a clubbing which would have killed it on the spot. Among the many I have talked with on campus since, I have not found anyone who disapproves of the Club or thinks its existence unjustifiable. The majority seem even enthusiastic about it.

A few, in my talk with them, expressed themselves as follows: Barbara Ruffin: "The Club room provides an excellent place for students to make new acquaintances, especially those unaffiliated with campus organizations, or those newly registered." Kelley Griffith: "It is a good place to pause the few minutes one has to wait before class and for refreshments."

Alice Klopstad: "It tends to keep students off the corners and offers a pleasant place to rest."

Vernon Stehman: "I enjoy this basement room immensely, but have found there is more to be learned on the upper four floors."

Kitty Campbell: "Many students who had no place to go for lunch feel at home in the Club."

Curtis MacDonald: "The phrase, 'Meet you under the clock in Corcoran' is now passe. Nearly everyone picks the Club."

Casey Bulow: "Though I eat my lunch in the sorority rooms, I frequently buy most of it here."

Austin Cunningham: "My only suggestion for a change would be that instead of sharing the profits as at present contemplated—whereby each of us would probably receive about six cents—that those profits be directed toward buying furnishings and other improvements."

The Student Club has turned out to be not only popular, but practical. When the proposed additions, such as more furniture, Venetian blinds, soda fountain, and a variety of sporting goods for sale are procured the room will be attractive as well as convenient in many ways.

A few have commented that the Club room offers a place in which students are prone to waste more time than they would otherwise. It is true that the same persons and groups are always the ones found playing cards here. But do you not think that these same students would probably find some other way to spend too much time on amusements? It is far better for them to play cards where gambling is prohibited than where it is not.

MILESTONES EN ROUTE

With

Margaret Davis
Robert Howell

EASTERN art objects and western religion are responsible for the avocations of the two students we discuss this week.

HOWARD REES' participation in Baptist activities and particularly with the University Baptist Student Union has led to his present work in establishing units on neighboring college camp.

In order to start Baptist organizations on a campus Rees first gets an introduction to some Baptist student enrolled in that University. In this way he is able to find out from the students' standpoint how interest could best be aroused on the campus and who could be best qualified to lead such a movement. General meetings and elections are then held to elect a council to direct Baptist activities in that college.

Rees says that the elaborate social set-up on college camp is a problem to combat since the purpose of the Baptist Student Union is not to create social activity, but to act as clearing houses in the task of bringing Baptist students into an active participation in their denominational privileges (Church, Sunday School, B. Y. P. U., and other kindred activities).

PEGGY MOORE, second year student, owns and operates "The Asian" shop where she sells art objects from Asian countries, mostly Chinese and Japanese.

Born in China where her father was a newspaper correspondent and returning to the Orient to live for three years in Japan, Miss Moore has gained her knowledge of Oriental art through direct contact. Much of her original stock consisted of things owned by her family.

Included in her display of modern and antique objects are: a pair of chopsticks, a Chien Lung lotus bowl, much cloisonne and pewter work, teacups with lids and pewter saucers, ancestral paintings, lacquer work, and the eight mystic horses.

One of her prize possessions is a Sasuma ware bowl known to be a unique piece since it has the lord's crest on the back of it. Dr. Shio Sakamishi, in charge of the Far Eastern division of the Library of Congress, has sent many people to see it. She also owns the best collection of lacquer Ming cabinets in the United States outside of the Metropolitan Museum.

Last year Miss Moore tutored members of the Japanese embassy in English. Another of her accomplishments is costume designing which has been used to advantage in recent University dramatic productions.

Did Nott shoot Shott?

A tragedy down in Texas which remains unsolved. Many years ago old Harper's weekly published the curious case of Mr. Nott and Mr. Shott, the mystery of which has never been fully solved. Here is the story.

A duel was lately fought in Texas by Alexander Shott and John S. Nott. Nott was shot, and Shott was not. In this case it is better to be shot than Nott. There was a rumor that Nott was not shot and Shott avows that he shot Nott, which proves either that the shot, Shott shot at Nott was not shot or that Nott was shot notwithstanding. Circumstantial evidence is not always good. It may be made to appear on trial that the shot Shott shot Nott, or as a student with firearms are frequent it may be possible that the shot Shott shot Shott himself when the whole would revolve itself into its original elements and Shott would be shot, and Nott would not. We think, however, that the shot Shott shot not Shott but Nott; and it was hard to tell who was shot.

MUSIC

One Need Not Possess the Ordinary "Concert Budget" in Washington Since Many Entertainments Are Free or Open at a Small Cost.

—By H. Gifford Irlon—

FEW persons, perhaps, realize the extent to which musical life in the Capital is seasoned with a variety and profusion of offerings. During the year this column has dwelt chiefly upon the performances of the National Symphony Orchestra and some apology may be fitting for its failure to include reviews of the myriad chamber and song recitals that occur all winter. One need not possess the ordinary "concert budget" to enjoy music here since many things are free or open at a very small cost. In addition to music in the churches and the military bands (which are very good), there are several small ensembles doing creditable work.

It was my good fortune to hear a semi-private concert by one of these groups Friday last. This was the distinguished all-women string quartet, bearing the significant name of Cremona. They played the Schubert quartet, opus 29, the Dvorak "American" quartet, and a few short numbers including a delightful work by Glazounov called "Oriental". The piece was directly misnamed since it bore more resemblance to a Scotch highland air than anything else.

The Cremona Quartet, like the Washington Quartet, a group made up of players in the orchestra, is bringing to this town a form of music which too many persons neglect. Of course, there are the incomparable concerts at the Library of Congress, but I venture to say that these are attended by a more or less permanent audience, a nucleus of devotees which could well be augmented.

An especially interesting program is scheduled by the University Symphony Club this Thursday night. Mr. Guy Lucks, organist and choir-master at "St. John's" Episcopal Church, will talk on the subject of "Bach" and play his works on the organ. No worshipper of the master classicist can afford to miss this.

An important item for record collectors has been released this month by Decca. It is a new Beethoven's 5th, played by the Queen's Hall Orchestra under Sir Henry Wood. For years this "great work" has been wanting a good but inexpensive recording. Here it is—and for the trifling sum of $3.50. For anyone whose politics is tinged with the color of the setting sun, be sure to hear a special new recording of the Internationale and several other Leftist songs.

Mrs. Foster will instruct in tennis, which will be offered at 11:10 and 12:10 on Tuesday-Thursday, and Wednesday-Friday; and 1:45 Monday-Wednesday, and Tuesday-Thursday.

Those who are medically limited can take archery on Monday and Wednesday, and Tuesday and Thursday and Thursday at 1:45 p. m.

Lea Teaches Golf

Miss H. Margaret Lea will instruct the golf classes at 11:10 and 12:10.

Alumnae Team Bows to Varsity

Varsity Rifle Team Will Meet U. of Missouri Next Week

Proving themselves superior to the alumnae squad, the members of the women's rifle varsity defeated the "old grads" by a score of 494 to 486 last Saturday on the University range.

The score of 494 is the highest the varsity has shot this season and the G. W. shooters have great hopes of defeating the University of Missouri next week.

In the match with the University of Maryland fired Mar. 14, G. W. was defeated by a score of 491 to 497.

The high scores for G. W. were: Ruth Brewer, 99; Dahlia Lewis, 99; Marjorie Sehorn, 99; Dot Pickett, 97; and Louise Rex, 97.

Artists To Open Department Sat.

The Fine Arts department will celebrate the opening of its new quarters at 2131 G St. with an open buffet-dance next Saturday from 8 until 12.

The studios will be decorated with water colors, paintings, etchings, prints, designs, architectural plans, sculpture, and other objects of artistic value and interest. A committee of five members, consisting of Wesley Budd, Archie Burgess, Helen Evans, Cole McFarland, and Myrta Williams, will send out invitations.

Orchestrals Presents "March of Time"

Interpretation of News at Dance Meet

6 Schools Represented at 4th Annual G. W.-Sponsored Symposium

By Phyllis Barnes

A MAN walked to his death in the electric chair, lagging and bent while his guards marched stiffly beside him... an arrogant bride rustled through excited flower girls at a society wedding... men struck, threatening and pleading... chorus girls went through their syncopated movements... war fell, leaving the field strewn with vanquished—all in the "March of Time" presentation of Orchestral at the fourth annual dance symposium Saturday.

American University, Hood, Trinity, Fulson Teachers', and Fredericksburg State Teachers' Colleges and Marjorie Webster School were represented by dance groups at the celebration in Pierce Hall. Mrs. Ruth A. Foster, dance instructor of the physical education department, sponsor of the symposium, greeted the guests and then turned the program over to the dancers. Each group had been given the word "news" to use as the theme of a dance composition.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY was represented by Ruth Critchfield, Helen Hoyem, Virginia Pope, Cecelia Couch, Francis McMillan, Dahlia Lewis, Tatyana Jansy, Flora Blumenthal, Jane Smith, Mary Fulgham, Christine Herrmann, and Lella Holley. Orchestral, the George Washington dance club, worked out its composition by using the "March of Time" as the basis.

Each college had cleverly worked out compositions on what the word "news" meant to them and also demonstrated briefly some form of dance technique. Fredericksburg State Teachers' College portrayed the mimeograph machine as the means of distributing news. No accompaniment was used, but with some of the girls flat on the floor, barely moving, some kneeling and some standing, arms swinging in a circle, the idea was clearly put across.

Hood College used Times Square as their pattern, whirling swiftly in a circle until one group left the circle to show some recent event, whirled back, and another group broke away.

MARJORIE WEBSTER SCHOOL exemplified news as coming from the four corners of the earth: from the south, languid and passionate; from the east, stoical and calm; from the north, proud and haughty; from the west, wild and free. They also presented a very clever satire, "But He Was a Good Man", showing through dance movement the man gambling, drinking, cheating those he seemed to befriend, and then being mourned and praised by his pious, hypocritical friends.

Wells Plans Student Club In Sociology

Organization To Be Named For L. F. Ward, Noted Alumnus

Dr. Carl D. Wells, assistant professor of sociology, is now making plans for the organization of a sociology club to be named after the founder of American sociology, Lester F. Ward. It is the hope of Dr. Wells that such an organization will create student interest in social problems and activities of social leaders.

Dr. Lester F. Ward, for whom the society is being named, received his A. B. degree here in 1869, his M. A. in 1873, and an honorary LL.D. in 1897. He taught botany in Columbian University from 1884 to 1886 and in 1903 became professor of sociology at Brown University. It was at Brown that he wrote one of his best-known books, "Dynamic Sociology", wherein he defines sociology as the study of the acceleration of human progress.

All students of the sociology department are invited to attend a meeting next Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., in H-103. Dr. Herbert, director of the research department of the public assistance division of the Board of Public Welfare, will speak on "The Consumer Cooperative Movement". Following the address, committees on organization and nomination will be appointed.

The first social affair of the Lester Ward Society will be a banquet at Wesley Hall on Apr. 16. Following the formalities of the banquet, election of the officers of the society will take place.

Present at the banquet will be men from this University and from Brown University who knew Dr. Ward either personally or as an instructor. Tentative plans are that one of their number will give a talk on "Dr. Ward—the man and the sociologist".

Any sociology student who desires to attend the banquet must file reservation with the sociology department in L-21.

Robert Hitch Aids Veterans Work In Puerto Rico

Capt. Robert A. Hitch, graduate of the Law School, who was sent by the Federal Veterans Administration in November to Puerto Rico, is successfully organizing the legal division of the Veterans Administration on that island.

Hitch, who will probably be in Puerto Rico for several months, represents the Administration in court. His duties, which bring him into contact with all types of persons over the entire island, consist of examining claims and investigating complaints on the questions of whether pensions, compensations, or insurances should be paid. Many guardianship cases and cases of a criminal nature also are handled by him.

In a letter to a friend at the University here, Hitch tells of winning his first guardianship case, which was conducted completely in the Spanish language. The law in Puerto Rico, he states, is derived from Roman and Napoleonic law, having a few statutes copied from us.

Guy Lucas Entertains Club With Organ Music

Guy Lucas, organist of St. John's Episcopal Church, will entertain the George Washington-Symphony Club in his study at the church Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

This meeting will begin with a talk by Lucas on the life of Bach. After the talk the members of the club will proceed to the main floor of the church to listen to a program of music from Bach, to be played by Lucas.

University Engineers Entertain Colleagues

The student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers of the University will be hosts at the first annual conference of the Student Chapters of the A. S. C. E. in this vicinity, to be held in Washington on May 7.

Civil engineering students from Catholic University, Johns Hopkins University, University of Maryland, and delegates from University of Virginia, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Virginia Military Institute, and the University of Delaware will attend the conference.

Annual Banquet For Bandsmen Will Be Apr. 20

The annual Band Banquet will be held Monday, Apr. 20, as announced by Howard Stark, chairman of the Banquet Committee of the Band.

At a meeting of the Band last Monday night, the proposal which had been introduced for changing the customary stag banquet into a banquet-dance was voted down.

The Banquet Committee consists of Howard Stark, chairman, Austin Roe, Salvatore Maciulla, Dick Schayer, and John Stevenson.

The Band will be the guests of Kappa Kappa Psi, national musical fraternity for college bandsmen, at a smoker at the Abner Drury Brewery on Apr. 3.

Independent Men Elect Next Week

The Men's Independents, organization of men not affiliated with social fraternities, will hold a meeting next Tuesday in Corcoran 23 at 8 p.m., at which time officers and Executive Board members for 1936-37 will be elected.

The organization will also register its final vote on an amendment to its by-laws the effect of which is to keep it, as an organization, out of campus politics.

Unauthorized Use Of Name Reported To the University

By Jack York
Illegal use of the name of the University to confuse credulous housewives is evidenced by the following approach heard, and reported to The Hatchet, by a Washington woman when she answered her doorbell last Thursday.

"I'm from George Washington University. We're making a survey to find homes in which there are electrical appliances which need repairing. Haven't you an iron, a washing machine, or some lamps that need fixing?"

The speaker, who was rather insistent on seeing "electrical appliances", was a young man wearing glasses and a neat brown business suit. He carried no tools.

No student has been authorized to use the name of the University for such purposes, according to Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, director of women's personnel guidance.

William Gerber Speaks To Avukah Wednesday

William Gerber, regional director for Avukah, will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the student Zionist group at the Columbian House, tomorrow at 8:30 p.m.

Gerber will talk on Avukah's "Kibbutz Allyah", which is the Avukah training camp which prepares the University student for pioneer work in Palestine. An open discussion will follow the talk.

Lila Hannah Takes Part Of Others Girl's Aunt—Mrs. Hottelbottom

Girl-Lettitia, and Leonard Lieberman was cast as The Girl's Brother—Jim. Miss Slater, a member of Cue and Curtain, appeared in "The Torchbearers" and "She Loves Me Not". "Skipty" Lieberman is composer of many of the lyrics for the hit tunes of the Fiesta show.

Mrs. Hottelbottom
Lila Hannah will take the part of The Other Girl's Aunt—Mrs. Hottelbottom. Ben Candland will be the suave gigolo—The Gentleman.

With Sieburns, and Jerry Hess will play the hilarious Slightly Inebriated Gentleman. Lila Hannah is author of the dialogue in "Davy". Hess played in "Take It Easy" and is a member of the Glee Club.

With the final official approval granted, the University Band will begin circulating petitions to all householders within an area of 400 feet of the Fiesta lot, asking that they approve the project. A ruling of the District Commissioners makes this necessary.

The official recognition of the Fiesta was made public by Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, yesterday, in a letter addressed to Director Ennes, which said:

"By authorization of the President, the Fiesta is hereby approved and the revised budget established as the financial basis of operations. The action of the Student Life Committee approving the Fiesta, carried with it provision that strict financial control must be established, the revised budget strictly adhered to, supplies requisitioned for in advance, and that the character of any vaudeville or other performance given in connection with the Fiesta be carefully watched by the Director and his staff."

Austin Roe, president of the Band, who will be in charge of getting signatures approving the Fiesta, has given every bandsman a certain area to cover, in which he will interview every householder. He expects to have the required number of signatures by the end of the week.

Tryouts Friday
Helen Bealke, dance director, has announced that she will hold one more tryout for chorus positions Friday evening at 7:30 in Corcoran 10.

The appointment of Gusie Mae Hanley as chief of the make-up staff and Beulah Koters as her assistant, was also announced last night.

Those interested in the Fiesta Art and Decoration staffs should be present at a meeting of those staffs, called for tonight in Fiesta offices, second floor of Building N, at 7:30 p.m., by Sam Walker.

Tom Godey has called a meeting of persons interested in the construction staff, for tomorrow night in the same offices at 7:30 o'clock.

A. Cunningham Is Nominated

Independents Choose Candidate for Presidency of Council

Austin Cunningham, independent delegate to the Student Council, was nominated as the Independent party's presidential candidate for the April Student Council elections at a meeting of the party Sunday.

Cunningham, chairman and Student Council delegate of the non-political Independent Men's Organization, is a member of the organization committee of the George Washington Union, and was formerly publicity director of the Union. He has been an associate editor of the Student Handbook and a senior staff member of The Hatchet.

At the same time Howard Ennes was elected permanent chairman of the party, replacing Cunningham, temporary chairman since November. Other officers elected were John Palmer, secretary, and Edmund Browning, treasurer.

Postponed Drama To Be Presented On Friday Night

The radio drama by Richard P. Creyke, "The Father of the Constitution", originally announced for last week, will be presented this Friday at 7:30 p.m. over station WMAL. It was postponed due to a misunderstanding between the University and station WMAL about the time.

The parts of Lucy Blakelie and Mrs. Cummings which had not been assigned last week at this time, will be played by Gertrude Sherman and Florence Rice.

This is the fifth radio drama to be written this year by a member of the creative writing class. It is being presented as a part of the University Radio Forum, which this month is under the auspices of the political science department.

Latin Americans Address Society
Avelino Costa and Lulu Quintanilla, members of the International Students Society, will speak on Puerto Rico and Mexico; their respective native lands, before the Society's Pan American Night in International House Friday night at 8:30.

The Latin-American atmosphere of the meeting will be enhanced by Latin-American music rendered by Gloria del Valle, playing the guitar, and Irma Gonzales, who will sing. Members of the society and their guests will wear costumes representing various countries of South and Central America.

Paris Professor Feted By School of Medicine
The School of Medicine will entertain Professor Lacassagne, of the Radium Institute of Paris, who is a guest in this country of the International Cancer Research Foundation of Philadelphia, Thursday at 11 a.m.

Professor Lacassagne will address the Faculty and students on the subject, "A presentation of tumors in rabbits originating at the site of former foci of inflammation treated with Roentgen rays". He will illustrate his talk with lantern slides.

M. B. Ketchum Accepts Position
Miriam B. Ketchum, graduate student in German who received her A. B. here in Library Science, has accepted a position as chief librarian of the Bureau of American Ethnology library. She will be transferred to her new post from her present work as assistant librarian at the Weather Bureau in April.

Essay Contest Offers Prizes
"Advertising Age" Offers $500 for Essays; First Prize Is $250
Five hundred dollars in prizes is being awarded by "Advertising Age", national newspaper of advertisers for the best essay on "The Economic Function of Advertising".

First prize will be a cash award of $250 and an all expense trip to Boston where the award will be made before the annual convention of the Advertising Federation of America. The writer of the essay judged second best will receive $100 cash. Third prize will be $50 and $10 each will be awarded to the next 10 best manuscripts.

Manuscripts should be less than 1500 words. Complete details of the contest may be secured from the Contest Secretary, 100 E. Ohio St., Chicago. No entry blank or fee is necessary.

Possibility Seen For Formation Of Chess Club
Possibilities for organizing a campus chess club should be revealed through names of University chess enthusiasts to be compiled by Dr. Donnell B. Young, professor of zoology, in the opinion of Norman B. Ames, assistant to the president.

Information for the Yearbook, which will be compiled by the American Foundation for Social Chess Education, will include names of students and faculty members who are interested in chess.

Interested persons should send their names, addresses, and playing experience to Dr. Young, together with their suggestions for formation of a University chess club.

Varsity Baseball Squad Due for Early Pruning; Lack of Practice Time Is Felt.

Colonial Baseball Team Opens Campaign Saturday

Ohio State Is First 'Enemy'

Buff. Batsmen May Feel Lack of Practice in Initial Tilt

Talent Galore on Team; Should Be Best in School History

By Art Branscombe

WHEN the Buff baseball battlers trot out onto the Ellipse field to open their season against the Scarlet Hurricane from Ohio State, Saturday, Coach Edgar Morris probably will be hoping as hard as he can hope that the opposition has had as little practice as he has his men. For, due to schedule troubles and to the fact that the only change in weather has been from bad to worse, the diamond devotees have had practically no chance to get in any outside practice and only a few hours in the gym, which has limited them to simply throwing the ball around, getting sponges in shape.

With only this indoor practice and what outdoor work they can get during this week behind them, the Buff batsmen will be well entrenched behind the eight-ball unless it turns out that the recent floods have cramped the Ohioans style also.

Coach Morris wants to win that ball game badly, for a variety of reasons. First and foremost, it is always important to the morale of any squad that they start the season well. This year, with what shapes up to be the toughest schedule any G. W. baseball team has ever faced, a running start is more than ever essential. The squad is considered by those connected with the athletic department to be the finest ever assembled under the Buff and Blue colors, bar none, and if they get off to a good start, they may easily set new standards for future horseshoe returns here.

Eight Vets Return
This year, with eight regulars of last year back, plus a host of new talent, the stage is all set for a far more successful season than that of '35 when the diamonds ended up with an even break in 12 games.

Where the Buff struggled along with three pitchers of any worth last year, this year two of them will be back, along with no less than four new ones, all boasting impressive records.

Bill Noonan and Vinnie DeAngelis, who were the mainstays of the staff last year, are back again, and as they won five of the six games won last season between them, are counted on for even bigger things this time. In addition to these stalwarts, Coach Morris will have eligible Bob Woytych, an Annapolis boy, reputed to have loads of stuff; Ronald Hope, a Virginia hope whose sandlot record last summer is quite a ray of hope—25 wins out of 25 games pitched; Bradley who pitched independent ball in North Carolina and compiled a season's record of 21 wins and three losses; and Bill Lanier, whose won-and-lost record in the Great Lakes Amateur League, where he pitched last summer, is not available, but whose prestige suffers not a bit in comparison to his colleagues when it is known that he hurled four one-hits and one no-hit game during the season. When boys like that get in condition the Buff pitching worries can be considered over.

Walker, Stamus to Catch
Catching these hurlers will be Steve Walker, who, it must be remembered, smote the pill for a .303 average last season. In spite of this impressive record, Ben Stamus, a newcomer, is accorded a good chance of edging the heavy-hitting Walker out of the regular catching job, so say the pre-season dopesters.

Swinging around the probable infield, only one new face is noted, at the initial sack. There's a new man, Fred Price, six feet of first baseman with his hair slicked down, is scheduled to replace slugging Emanuel "Lefty" Johnson, leading hitter of the squad last year with a .385 percentage. Johnson, in view of his pill-pounding propensities, cannot very well be left off any team, and in all probability will hold down one of the outfield posts, where his comparative shortness will not be felt as keenly as at first base.

At second Bob Williams, a .306 hitter last year, is ready to go again. Shortstop will be handled by Clarence "Moe" Berg, also a veteran. Third again is slated for "Tiny Tim" Stapleton, who sported a .286 batting mark for last season. The two remaining outfield positions, since Johnson almost is as-

$5 Fine Expected to End Frat Sport Forfeitures

Active steps to reduce if not eliminate the number of forfeitures occurring in interfraternity sport contests sponsored by the Interfraternity Council are being taken by that group. An amendment suggested at its meeting Sunday will, if passed, cause a fine of five dollars to be levied against any fraternity whose team fails to appear for a scheduled contest. Vote on the amendment will be at the next meeting of the council.

Swim Team In A.A.U. Event

Coach Rote Confident Men Will Annex 200, 100, 50-yard Dashes

WHILE the roaring raging Potomac was running amuck this past week, Coach Max Rote was reluctant to let the George Washington swimmers practice their swimming strokes in the yellow waters for the coming District of Columbia Athletic Union Swimming Championships to be held this Friday and Saturday at the Shoreham Pool. The elimination meets will be held 8 p. m. Friday, and the finals will begin Saturday 8 p. m.

Though the Colonials did not win the D. C. A. U. meet last year, only placing fourth, they won the meets the two previous years in a row. Coach Max Rote said, ahead the coming meet:

"Though the Men's Y. M. C. A. team is expected to win this year, the Colonials will probably take the 200-yard relay, the 50-yard and 100-yard dashes."

Some of the expected opponents will be Y. M. C. A. Western High, Central High, Shoreham Hotel, Ambassador Hotel, Georgetown University, and University of Maryland.

The Buff and the Blue entries are as follows:

200-yard free style relay—Captain Henry Vonder Bruegge, Beverly

Things and Stuff—Mostly Stuff

BEING unable to practice at the monument because of the flood, the baseball team is working out at the Rosedale Park. . . . Benny Levitan says the flood is overrated. . . . Included among the spectators viewing the flood in Georgetown were about half of the varsity house en masse. . . . If we had a crew here the participants would probably be called crewmen.

Spring football practice will probably deplete the baseball squad. . . . From the looks of the candidates for intramural baseball, the series will be held between the Junior College, Columbian College, Pre-Meds, and Engineers. . . . Law School and Pharmacy are slow in signing up. . . . It's rumored that Fred Price, varsity first baseman, is more interested in femininity than history. . . . Those new uniforms look good. . . . but in baseball, clothes don't make the man. . . . Word pictures. . . . Pete Yurwitz, Casanova in a football uniform. . . . Jack Espey, Beau Brummel with a cigar. . . . George Freilicher, a miniature King Kong in need of a shave. . . . Jack Disham, a rah-rah boy still raving. . . . Clarence Berg, the before of a hair restorer ad.

Humpty Dumpty out on a bough. Humpty Dumpty fell and how! Humpty Dumpty, being Jimmy Thomas, member of the Hatchet sport staff who looked over the season's records and then broke out with a rash and fever to carry the torch for Acacia to win the Interfraternity bowling title Saturday at the Rendezvous Alleys. . . . To either failed to tell S. P. E. about it or they do not read the Hatchet, for S. P. E. contrary to Thomas' predictions, not only won, but won in a walk.

We stoop to acknowledge the poor sportsmanship shown by the team that defeated the Rinaldi Tailors in the competition at Denver, Colorado. . . . The opponents of the theretofore successful Tailors vigorously protested the insertion of Hal Kiesel in the Rinaldi lineup. . . . It is well to note that this protest followed the fine playing of Kiesel, who scored 16 points in the game of the night previous.

Net Squad To Start Drills

Coach Welsh Encouraged By Size of Turnout; Teaches Theory

Actual Practice Scheduled To Start Yesterday; On Monument Courts

BARNEY WELSH, varsity racket coach, called out all tennis fanatics last week, and the encouraging response bodes well for another successful team and season.

Conditioning of his neophytes is the prime worry of Welsh at this time, although most of the men are working into passable shape with the familiar fork wielding process usually exercised about the hours of 8, 12 and 6. Barney delved into the theoretical aspects of the game last Thursday—suggesting the advantages of playing the point score, and the proper use of the center court theory.

Actual practice is scheduled for this week, with the first unlimbering yesterday afternoon at the Monument Courts, flood waters notwithstanding. A week from Friday, Amherst will be met at Columbia Country Club, in the first of a 10-match schedule. The usual pre-season form—or lack of it—is to be expected for the opener, though some consolation remains in the fact that the Amherst campus now lies under a blanket of snow.

Duke, tentatively set for May 8, will be the major opponent of the season. The Southern Conference champions pushed the Colonials about at will last year, and victory for the Welshmen would be salutary or sumptuous, to players and coach. Welsh was three times tennis captain at the Southern school. Eight of the 10 contests are to be played here.

The tentative schedule:

April 3—Amherst.
6—Alumet.
14—Boston Coll.
17—Richmond.
May 8—Johns Hopkins (there).
8—Duke.
11—Delaware (there).
14—West Virginia.
15—Lafayette.
22—Temple.

Spring Practice Began Yesterday

Spring football practice, long delayed by the misdirected searchings for an "all-weather" field, started yesterday on a field just off the Monument grounds, between the Bureau of Engraving and the John Paul Jones statue.

For the rest of this week the grid-ders will have the field to themselves as they indulge in the preliminary trials of getting bumped out of, or back into, shape.

Next week, however, the baseball squad will also descend upon this field, and then the two squads will practice together.

Floods and Heavy Rains To Delay Frat Baseball

Damages to Washington's sandlot baseball diamonds by the recent floods and heavy rains will withhold the opening of the Interfraternity baseball league at least a week. I. Ray Howard, chairman of the athletic committee of the Interfraternity Council, announced yesterday. The speed with which the diamonds are whipped into shape will now govern the opening date and from all present indications, April 5 will probably be the earliest date that competition will get underway.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Captures Frat Pin Title In Play-Off

Croft Is High Scorer With 383 as S.P.E.'s Run Up 142 Pin Margin to Capture Interfrat Crown From Acacia, 1,608-1,466

SIGMA PHI EPSILON, rolling in truly championship style, won the 1936 Interfraternity bowling title Saturday night on the Rendezvous alleys by defeating the Acacia team in three straight games. S. P. E., League A champions, rolled 1,608 for the three games in defeating Acacia, League B title holder. Acacia's three-game total was but 1,466.

Only the first game was even close, S. P. E. winning it by a 31-pin margin, the scores being 535 to 504. In the second game Croft, of S. P. E., rolled 152 to set a season's single game high, his teammates co-operating with him in piling up a 546 total to Acacia's 491. The third game was even more of a walk-away as the champions rolled 527 to 471 for the losers.

Heavily favored to win, the Acacia team went into the match with a season's record of high scores, have consistently scored in the 1500's in their matches and having set the season's three game high record with a 1,625 team score. But Saturday the pins were not falling for them, while S. P. E.'s men bowled their best match of the season. Only twice before had the Sigma Phi Epsilon five gone over 1500 in their scores, and then by margins of 33 and 13 pins, but Saturday was the occasion and they rose to it in grand style.

Counting Saturday's games in with their league matches Sigma Phi Epsilon won the title with a season's percentage of .888, winning 16 games and losing but two. Their season's pin fall was 9,001 pins for a 500 pin team average. Croft, Saturday's star, showed as the best bowler for the season. Bowling in every game he averaged 106.2 pins for the season, and only once dropped below a 300 pin total for a match.

Interfrat Pin Stakes on Tap

THE Interfraternity Bowling Sweepstakes, open to all bowlers who competed in the Interfraternity League championship series, will be held Saturday night at the Rendezvous Alleys. Competition will begin at 8:15.

Fourteen entries have already been received, and many more are expected this week. Every fraternity is slated to enter one or more of its "experts".

Thomas Jackson, of Phi Sigma Kappa, won the event last year, but since has transferred to the University of Maryland. Everett Woodward was the winner in 1934.

Among the entries already received are: T. U. O.—Wildes, Hill, Pomeroy, Dryer; D. T. D.—Hix, Kirksey, Woodward; S. P. E.—Gleason, Croft, Barnett; T. D. X.—Knapp, Brown; P. S. K.—Ellis; K. S.—Braeme; S. X.—Poole; S. N.—Hawes, Swindell.

Colonials Victorious Over Navy Yard Marines 1,349-1,287

Maryland University Upsets Riflers, 1,365-1,376, in Last Meet

WITH the official season over, the George Washington varsity rifle squad is busily engaged in preparing itself for the National Rifle Association Intercollegiate Rifle Team Championships scheduled April 4 at the Naval Military Academy, Annapolis, Md.

Just as spring is one of the busiest seasons of the year for Mother Nature, so was last week one of the busiest weeks for the Buff and the Blue sharpshooters this season. The first of the busy events occurred Wednesday when the Colonials ran up an overwhelming victory over the Navy Yard Marines, 1,349-1,287, in a shoulder-to-shoulder meet. The second shoulder-to-shoulder meet was held at College Park, Md., where the Colonials were unexpectedly defeated 1,365-1,376 by the University of Maryland rifle team.

Though the Colonials had outshot the Maryland targeters in the kneeling and standing positions, it fell into the snare of the Terrapin range where each target runs diagonally to the sharpshooter. The team was penalized 20 points when Bob Martin accidentally shot two prone "bulls" on to Tracy Mulligan's target, an event that would never have been possible on an or-

Social Security Leaders Expect Union Support

By Lee Roark

A social security bill, which is being worked out by the labor committee, under the chairmanship of Austin Cunningham, will probably find favorable support when it comes up at the next Union meeting of Apr. 8, leaders feel, since a majority among the Centrists and Leftists are advocates of a Federal social security program.

But, again the question arises of how to finance the measure for a nation-wide system of payments to unemployed, disabled, and aged workers. The desirability of social security is generally accepted, but differences arise as to how to pay for it. Even experienced legislators turn gray over the question.

The bill, as it now reads, skims the question by stating that such financing is "to be provided for out of the national Treasury," being a "primary charge on the national wealth," and that "any additional costs necessitated thereby should be derived by suitable revenue legislation."

With such an array of diamond talent sparkling on paper at least, it is hard to disagree with M'sieur C. Max Farrington, major-domo of most everything sportstic around school. He said:

"Year before last we had the best baseball team in the history of the school, but this year we should have an even better team."

Just who is next on the baseball schedule after Ohio State has been played, the athletic department has not announced, but it is believed that at least a brief respite will be arranged in order to allow the team further practice. However, the schedule will probably be completed and announced by next week.

Writing Class Sketches Are Commissioned

Works of Creative Writers To Be Presented in Celebration

A one hour radio drama and a series of 15 minute radio sketches to be written by members of the creative writing class and presented next Oct. 22 in New York during the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Statue of Liberty, have been commissioned by John J. Heimbürger, ranger historian of the National Parks Service, and formerly a University student.

The University creative writing class will be mentioned when the authorship of the one hour drama, which will be written by Carrie Roper Fulton and the sketches to be written by five other members of the class is announced at the presentation next fall.

Heimbürger was editor of the Hatchet Literary Review while at the University. He took the short story and creative writing courses with Douglas Bement, professor of English who teaches the creative writing class this year.

Glee Clubs Sing Friday

Groups Will Be Guests at Closed Dance After Performance

The combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs will sing at the annual banquet of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology and will be guests at a dance given by that organization in their honor at the Willard Hotel Friday night.

Among the selections which the clubs will render are a mixed choral arrangement of the "Pilgrims' Chorus" from "Tannhauser," "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah," and "Inflammatus" by Rossini.

Margery League, soprano, who recently joined the club, will sing the soprano solo part of the last selection.

Leon Brusiloff's orchestra, which will accompany the glee clubs in some of their numbers, will play for the closed dance for Glee Club members and their guests afterwards. Brusiloff's string ensemble will also entertain the members of the Federation with dinner music during their banquet.

Cage and Rochelle Find Debating Is A Pleasure

By Frances Humphrey

If you think being a member of the Men's debate team isn't pleasure as well as work just get into a conference with Edwin Cage and William Rochelle who have just returned from William and Mary College where they debated the Supreme Court question.

"Ed" and "Bill" left Washington by boat Sunday night, Mar. 15. There wasn't a romantic Virginia moon lighting the way, nor was the excitement of being caught in the flood present, but nevertheless the trip was a most interesting one, for as Bill said, "The food was everything it should have been."

The debaters arrived in Norfolk early Monday morning—too early, according to "Bill" who was blissfully dreaming of the William and Mary co-eds, but Cage who is one of those "early to rise" Texas rangers, was anxious to be up and view the city of Norfolk. The debaters were unsuccessful in trying to break in the dirigible hangar at Langley Field, however, they did succeed in viewing the construction of the giant new airplane carrier "Yorktown" which is to be launched Apr. 4 at the Newport News shipbuilding factory.

"Bill" and "Ed" arrived in Williamsburg at noon and made themselves at home in the Kappa Sigma house. The rest of the day was spent in viewing the sights of the second oldest college in the United States. The entire city of Williamsburg is the replica of a little colonial village. So realistic an impression does the scene create that one wouldn't be at all surprised to see Thomas Jefferson or James Madison walk up and say "Good morning."

The debate itself took place in the Philomathean room in historic old Wren Hall, which has been restored exactly as it was when William and Mary was founded.

Our debaters were impressed with the unusual interest of the student body of William and Mary in debate. An organization known as the Wrangler's Club is in control of men's debate. It has absolute charge of selecting debaters, topics and schedules. Every home debate is on a different topic. This is made possible by the large number of members in the Wrangler's Club. This club is supported by funds from the college.

To give the trip variety the journey home was made by automobile. A few hours were spent

Works Written By 5 Students Are Published

Articles by Mrs. Cummings and Miss Grillo Are in "New Stories"

Five students who have taken or are taking writing courses at the University have had work acknowledged by publication within the last month.

Stories by Mrs. Helen Swick Cummings and Geraldine Pascala Grillo were printed in the last edition of Edward J. O'Brien's "New Stories". Mrs. Cummings has taken both the short story and creative writing courses at the University. Her story was "The Hours Off". Miss Grillo, a member of the short story class, published "Brother and Sister".

Warren Bower of the New York University English department published sketches by three University students in his recent anthology, "The College Writer", published by the W. W. Norton Co. They are "Prowlers in the Night", by the late Thomas Cummings, "Man Eating Horses d'Oeuvres" and "Invocation of the Muse" by Celia Rol Leonard, and "Aunt Mel" by William C. Martin, Jr.

Seeger Conducts Forum
Dr. Raymond J. Seeger, professor of physics, spoke at a meeting of Phi Sigma Rho philosophical society last Thursday evening. He delivered a talk on "The Problem of Causality in Physics". An open forum followed the talk.

Future forums will also deal with causality in philosophy and in psychology.

aroma... it's as much a part of
Chesterfield as the taste

Did you ever
notice the difference in the aroma of
Chesterfield tobacco?

Every person who knows about tobacco will understand this... for to get a pleasing aroma is just like getting a pleasing taste from fruit.

Mild ripe tobaccos, home-grown, and welded with the right kind of tobacco from far-off Greece and Turkey (Samsoun, Smyrna, Xanthi and Cavalla)...

...that's why Chesterfield has a more pleasing aroma.
